NEATLY CAUGHT.

Four of the Robbers at the County Jail.

CONFRONTED WITH THEIR MASKS

How They Were Traced by Jailor Russell—Part of the Booty Recovered.

The robbery and burglary business, which has been flourishing here for the past week or two, received a severe setback yesterday in the capture of the entire gang that executed the Sepulveda and the Five-Mile-House robberies Saturday night. The three men who went into the tavern near the Arroyo Seco and held up the inmates, as well as the fourth who held the horses out in front while the job was in progress, are all now safe in custody at the County Jail. Their capture was as clever a piece of detective work as was ever crowned with success. It was accomplished by Wm. H. Russell, the jailor for this county, to whom alone the credit for the capture belongs.

When the news came to Sheriff Kays Saturday night he started Mr. Russell out on the trail. The search was kept up until it became tolerably evident that the men had come back to town and not gone off in the mountains as was at first supposed.

Yesterday morning Russell took a horse and buggy and went around to a number of livery stables to discover whether any men answering the description of the masked burglars had engaged teams. About 9 o'clock at the City Pound he got his clue. Dick Towne, who manages the livery stable in connection with the Pound, said that four men had hired a team of horses and a surrey there the night before and had not returned it until nearly midnight. The rig was covered with sandy mud, which showed that it had been driven out of the city.

"Now, one of those men," said Towne, "wants to get a buggy to-day to go out riding with his girl. He will be back at noon and you can get a look at him."

At 1 o'clock the man came and got a rig with a large white horse. Russell followed him a short distance and saw him call at a house, where a young lady with auburn hair joined him, and they drove off together.

In the meatime Towne, who had been investigating the matter with Russell, had discovered that the men who had hired the bugggy the night before lived at old Mother Waters' boarding-house on San Fernando street, below the depot. Mrs. Bridget Waters will be remembered as the woman who had some difficulty with her husband several months ago, as a result of which he died very suddenly. The jury thought it was self-defense. She is now maintaining herself and family by providing rooms and board for such wayfarers as happen along her way.

At this place it was found that the four men described by Towne were living and their names were: George Kirby, a stout, black-bearded, dark-eyed man of middle age; Bill James and Frank Cochran, two men about 34 years of age, and, lastly, J. W. Germain, generally known as "Shorty," a good-looking youth whom Mother Waters described as a very nice young man that was going to get married pretty soon. This was the young man with the white-horse outfit.

None of them had been at Mrs. Waters' place very long, and they were very much together and away from the other boarders. They had been away Saturday evening until late and then had all four come in together. This was enough of a clue for a starter and Russell started out to find them. Two of them were discovered about 5 o'clock in a Chinese restaurant, and were sent back to the jail by George Russell, the deputy jailor, who had been sent for to take a hand in the business. These were Bill James and Frank Cochran. A little later Kirby went back to the "ken" and was captured by Russell. Last of all, Germain returning from his ride with the girl was taken in charge by Tommy Botello, and the whole gang were then lodged in separate rooms in the jail.

Each was asked to account for himself on the previous night. They told a variety of stories, none of which hung together. On the person of one of them was found a silver watch bearing the initials which were on the one that had been taken the night before. One of them, Cochran, had $55 in gold, and the others various sums of money.

The keys found in the pockets of the prisoners were appropriated, and Jailor Russell, accompanied by the reporter and several others, went back to Mother Waters' establishment to search the rooms. In the room occupied by Germain were found two valises.

"O, Shorty is all right," said Mrs. Waters. "He is a good boy and pays his bills to me quite regular. You won't find anything wrong about him."

"Wont we?" said Jailor Russell, who had been fishing around in one of the valises. "What do you say to this, mother?" and he turned toward her with a blue crepe mask fitted down over his face. He had drawn it from the pocket of a long linen coat in the valise.

Three other linen coats were produced and in the pocket of each was a mask of the blue crepe. There also were some mud stained and wet garments, which had evidently been worn on the expedition of the previous night. Two revolvers, fitting the description of those taken from the men at the Five Mile House, were also found.

In the room occupied by Kirby a long pistol and a cartridge belt were found under the pillow of his bed, also a slouch hat such as he is described as having worn.

The four men are all new comers, and their record elsewhere will be looked into later. It is very evident that Kirby himself is a thoroughbred, whether the others are skilled hands or not. It is quite possible that his record may make entertaining reading.

"DOCTOR" GRIFFIN.

The True History of His Remarkable Career.

BORN IN THE WEST INDIES.

He Assumed the Name and Title of One of His Early Employers.

When Detective J. H. Mahoney of San Francisco, who was in Los Angeles during the early part of last week, was asked by a HERALD man for particulars of the career of "Dr." Hamilton Griffin, whose history he had unearthed, he promised to send down all the information in his possession from his office at San Francisco. The documents arrived yesterday, and as this is probably the last that will be heard of the celebrated swindler for some years to come, as he is booked for a long term in the New Westminster penitentiary, the story of his life will doubtless be perused with interest.

Griffin commenced his earthly career in June, 1839, his birthplace being a Haytian plantation owned by his father, a wealthy Frenchman, who had several good looking Negro wenches in his employ. One of these was Griffin's mother, and she must have been proud of her son, for he turned out to be one of the smartest boys on the island. His name was not Griffin, however, but Jean Baptiste Le Blanc, the surname being doubtless that of his father, and the wealth and position of his sire obtained for him considerable importance among the colored society in which he, at an early age, obtained the distinction of a Chesterfield. He picked up the several languages spoken at Port-au-Prince, at which place he was often to be seen on pleasure bent, but he was by no means a drone, for he took a great interest in the culinary art, and became noted for the toothsome dishes he was capable of producing. This knowledge served him in good stead, for when at the age of 20 his roving disposition looked for a wider sphere than the narrow bounderies of his island home, he obtained employment as cook on a French vessel bound for England, and as a knight of the white apron made his first appearance in the metropolis of the world. Life in a kitchen had evidently become tedious to him by this time, and he sought for and obtained employment as janitor of a newspaper office, where in the many leisure hours at his disposal he stored his mind with treasures that proved incommensurably valuable to him during his after career. Imbued with an idea to taste the delights of continental life,

HE MIGRATED TO PARIS,

And there he found his way into the halls of the upper ten in the capacity of valet to Gustavus Griffin, M. D., B. A., who was a prominent member of the French Academy. Young Le Blanc had fallen into the very groove of his ambition, for Dr. Griffin was a globe-trotter, and took his man with him on his travels. They went through Europe together and then to Palestine, where six years were passed by the doctor in the pursuit of archæological knowledge, which hobby later lead him to Athens, where he cast his anchor for about three years. Le Blanc, who had developed literary tastes, corresponded with several London papers over the signature of "Cosmos" and showed himself to be a keen observer of both men and incidents. When about 28 years of age Le Blanc threw off the garb of servitude and returned to London, where, after lingering about town a short time and spending his savings in a princely fashion, he one day went into a steamship office and bought a ticket to New Orleans.

His advent into the Crescent City created quite a sensation, that is among the élite of the colored circles, where he posed as an Adonis, and was such a heart-breaker that two dusky female descendants of Ham actually met on the field of honor one morning to decide who was entitled to his heart, the affair resulting in an application to an undertaker's for a wooden receptacle for one of the fiery Amazons. Le Blanc kept his hand free, and a few weeks later brought himself still more prominently into notice as the organizer and president of the "Colored People's Bank," which he announced had a paid-up capital of $300,000. His influence over the Negroes secured its success; the thrifty ones poured their shekels into its treasury, the bank prospered and Le Blanc grew fat and prosperous. The slow workings of the money-making machine failed to satisfy him, however, and one morning the terrible rumor went around the "Cajean" quarter that Monsieur Le Blanc was missing and the bank had failed. Its shortcomings proved to be in the neighborhood of $100,000, every cent that had been entrusted to the wily adventurer by his over-confiding dupes.

HE APPEARS AS GRIFFIN.

In 1875 a handsome, swarthy individual, whose attire betokened a man of means, was driven to the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, where in a bold, running hand he registered as Dr. Gustavus Griffin, B. A. No one would have recognized in him the mulatto, Le Blanc, and if they had they probably would not have cared, because in a very short time he established himself as a social favorite. His wealth appeared to be countless, and nothing was too expensive for the distinguished traveler, who showered costly presents right and left on those he honored with intimate friendship. He disappeared one day as meteor-like as he had made his appearance, and a howl of rage went up from a host of creditors who, dazzled by his splendor, had given him the run of their establishments. Two years later he appeared at Niagara Falls accompanied by a colored servant and, renting a cottage, gave out that he was an invalid, creating in this role quite a furore among the medical fraternity by the liberality of his douceurs. About six months rolled by in this manner, and his name appeared on the debit side of the books of several establishments to the tune of many thousand dollars, so the "doctor" evidently thought that the place was becoming decidedly unhealthy for an invalid like himself, and one day announcing that he was going out for a constitutional he started over the bridge and was seen no more. Investigation proves that he did not stop his constitutional until he reached old Quebec, where a Danish lady of wealth became smitten with his charms, and the doctor became a benedict, the ceremony being one of the most fashionable that had been witnessed in the vicinity for many years. His bride lived but twelve months, and the sorrowing husband tore himself away from the associations of his marital career and went to Montreal, where he engaged in the practice of medicine with such good success that he ultimately became an assistant Health Officer. The peculiar vein in his composition of declining to pay his debts again cropped up, and one day an indignant creditor called him a "d— Negro," whereupon the "Doctor" broke a pitcher over his insulter's head and was consigned therefor to the horrors of a dungeon for two months, and in addition was mulcted in a fine of $200. He attempted a swindling transaction on his release but was tripped up, and for the next six months saw the sun from the wrong side of a massive set of prison bars. Montreal was evidently a good place for him to leave so he dropped over to Prince Edward's Island, where he would have been married for the second time, but for the fact that he obtained money from a local bank on a bogus letter of credit. The fraud was discovered, and the "Doctor" once more was nearly measured for a suit of striped clothes, but he obtained the money with which to reimburse the bank and the prosecution was stopped. The affair of course destroyed his marital prospects, so he emigrated to Ontario, where he burst on hoteldom as the special correspondent for a number of Canadian, English and French papers. The swindle worked successfully, and Griffin, on the strength of his journalistic powers, obtained passes over the railroads and induced a couple of the Grand Trunk officials to join him in a land investment. They gave him their notes for their part of the capital stock and he turned them into money, but his partners became aware of his intentions and forced him to disgorge under threats of prosecution.

OFF TO ENGLAND.

The bogus doctor then sailed for England and set up an establishment in Victoria street, London, the most fashionable part of the town. He hired a magnificent suite of rooms, engaged liveried lackeys and advertised that he was the representative of the Pacific railroads and the agent for lands in the far West. He promised to secure valuable clerical appointments for well-educated gentlemen, and from each of his host of applicants he exacted a fee ranging all the way from $25 to $100. The business was a paying one, but the inevitable crash came when the swindle, in the ordinary course of events, was laid bare. The "Doctor" fled, but was arrested at Liverpool as he was on the point of sailing for America, and for six months he had an opportunity of studying prison life in England from an inmate's point of view. On his release he carried out his former intention of re-crossing the Atlantic, and turned up in Canada again as a lecturer on "The Temperance Question" and "The Holy Land." His career in this character was a short one, for he met and married his present wife, Mrs. Nellie Lennox, the daughter of a prosperous London (Ont.) tailor. The happy couple went to Victoria, B. C., where at the Windsor Hotel Mrs. Griffin's dowry was spent with a liberal hand by her beloved spouse. From Victoria they went to San Francisco and registered at the Melville Hotel, which place, after a residence of several weeks, they vacated without paying their bill, the "Doctor" pleading poverty to the landlord, although, it has since been ascertained, he had $3,000 in a local bank at the time. In the early part of 1887 the pair arrived in this city, where as the agent for the Carbolic Smoke Ball Griffin soon gained renown. His career here is too well known to need recapitulation. Dry Sparkling Champagne and land agencies acknowledged him for their head, and with an indebtedness of several thousand dollars at his back the "Doctor" set sail for British Columbia, where his adventures are of so recent chronicling that mere allusion to them is sufficient. There is no doubt that he was the author of the blackmailing letters, "By order of the Black Hand," that disturbed the peace of the Hon. R. Dunsmuir, of Victoria, B. C.

POLICE PROTECTION.

How it Compares with that of Other Cities.

The sudden and alarming increase of crime in this city during the last week has called forth a good deal of discussion as to its cause and prevention. The crimes which have experienced this unexpectee boom are those of robbery, burglary and sneak thieving. It is safe to supposd that not more than half the cases that actually occur are reported to the police. On such a theory the total sum of all the episodes of this sort that have to pass within the last seven days is appalling. On one night no less than seven burglaries or attempts at thieving were chronicled. Scarcely a day has passed without one or two houses or stores being entered, and a number of cases of holding up have occurred in rapid succession.

The performances of Saturday night were well calculated to cap the climax. It is true that they were all three, the robbery at Sepulveda, that at the Five-Mile-House and the attempt to rob at Washington and Denver avenues, outside of the city limits, but the effect of the crimes in startling the community and bringing people to a realizing sense of what is going on was quite the same as if they had happened in the midst of the city. The same outlaws that perpetrated these crimes may at any time make a descent upon any part of the city, and unless they happen to run upon men of exceptional pluck there appears to be little to prevent them having their own way.

It is beginning to be understood that Los Angeles is not the easiest city in the world in which to manage crime. Its unusual area, the magnificent distances which are to be met with in the outlying parts of the city, and the scattered arrangement of its sparcely settled portions make the proper patrolling of its streets at night a matter of extraordinary difficulty.

The average tax-payers have rather vague ideas about the police force, and beyond a rooted conviction that no one of its members is ever likely to be on hand when he is needed, he knows very little of its actual size or efficiency. The city of Los Angeles contains thirty-six square miles. Its total police force consists at present of seventy men. By the time the drivers, jailors, clerks, license and special officers are deducted there is left an acting force of fifty men. Of these not more than twenty-five are ever on duty at once—for even a policeman must sleep—and as a rule not more than twenty-two serve at one time. During the morning there are five men on duty. During the afternoon fifteen or sixteen. At night the large watch goes on and remains on duty until morning.

A simple process of division—25 into 36—shows that each man will have considerably over one square-mile of territory to patrol. But in the thickly settled portions of the city there must be a man to every four blocks. Thus it happens that the outskirts of the city are practically without police surveillance of any sort, and the tramps are at perfect liberty, as far as the authorities are concerned, to try any experiments they see fit.

A comparison with a few other cities shows very clearly the utter failure of the police force of this city to meet the needs of the territory. Taking its total police force into consideration New York has only one man for every 8.10 acres, and for 533 inhabitants. Baltimore has one for every 13.16 acres and every 567 inhabitants. San Francisco—another scattering city—has one for every 67.07 acres and 864 inhabitants. And Los Angeles? It has—counting its entire 70 men—one for every 257.27 acres and for every 1,214 of its inhabitants.

One who has watched the workings of the Police Department said yesterday: "During last spring and summer, through the energy of one man the practical efficiency of this small force was greatly increased by the cultivation among the men of an unusual degree of esprit de corps and by continued enforcement of perfect discipline. During the same space of time the patrol wagon was added to the paraphernalia of the department, which in its practical working is as good as a dozen extra men. A number of other improvements were made by the same strong hand, and for a time the force was increased in numbers to somewhere near the city's actual needs. This was during the summer, when the city was much freer from a criminal element than it now is. There ensued month after month of comparative immunity from crime of the sort which has shocked the city during the last week.

As the cold weather comes on the tramps, toughs, thieves and evil characters of all sorts drift back into the city, and the need from police protection is much greater than during the summer season. Everything has its compensations. The same balmy air and soft skies that make Southern California a harbor for invalids make it also a paradise for tramps. There is every probability that the vagrancy problem will in the course of time assume proportions in this land of perfect climate to make it worthy of sober consideration on the part of the authorities. Los Angeles is, moreover, for the most part, a new city made up to an unusual extent of population that nobody knows anything about. In the old Eastern cities every new bad character is promptly spotted by the police and watched. Here the authorities are utterly unable to do anything of the sort, and professional crooks of all sorts may flock here from the East by the hundred and no one would be the wiser until a succession of crimes would startle the community.

The police are supposed to have a great deal of assistance from the deputy constables, and this class show a considerable degree of activity at times in the matter of the arrest of suspicious characters. But their work is the twisting of a rope of sand as far as results are concerned. The vags have no particular objection to six or eight days in the county jail, and are all ready when the time is up to be re-arrested again and allow the constable his desired fee. They never leave town because of the constables. The general opinion of taxpayers, as its expression is heard on the streets by the HERALD, is that something ought to be done to increase the efficiency of the police force and protect citizens from the inroads of the bad classes that are flocking in upon us.

A REMARKABLE CURE
—BY—
Haemony, the King of Herbs.

LOS ANGELES, December 4, 1888.

C. H. Webb, Esq., 210 East First Street, Los Angeles, Cal;

DEAR SIR—I wish, for the benefit of sufferers with Rheumatism or Stomach troubles, to subscribe the following. It has been my misfortune to be a sufferer with Rheumatism at different periods of my life. Two attacks lasting nearly two years each.

About four months ago I was prostrated with an aggravated case of Inflammatory Rheumatism in my knees, hands, wrists, etc. Also had Sciatica in my right thigh and some pains in my back. After seven weeks in bed, with a prospect of as many months before me, a friend recommended Haemony. I procured a bottle, and after taking six teaspoonsful, or six doses, in three days, I was able to go down town on a pair of crutches. In a week's time the crutches were put aside, and to-day I am enjoying my usual good health, with no pains or soreness.

I have suffered for years with Dyspepsia, Water Brash, Sour Stomach, etc., and to my surprise and delight, after four bottles of Haemony I am entirely cured, and can eat as healthy as when a child, and am not distressed thereby. I cannot say too much for Haemony.

Very truly yours,
E. B. BUCHER,
512 Beaudry avenue.

Philharmonic Concert at the Grand Opera House.

OPENING OF THE NEW THEATER.

Notes of Amusement at Home and Abroad—Gossip About Plays and Players.

Frank Daniels has been playing Little Puck to crowded houses, and may re-visit Los Angeles on his return tour.

Booth and Barrett will open the new California Theatre in San Francisco, and we will again have the pleasure of seeing them.

The Emma Abbott Opera Company will open at the Grand Opera House a week from to-night, and will remain here through the holiday season.

The next comic opera that will be brought from Europe is one by Franz von Suppe that has been successfully produced in Vienna. It is entitled Die Jagd nach dem Gluck, literally, The Hunt After Luck.

Referring to Barrett and Booth, who have joined forces, it is rumored that Frank Daniels and Nat Goodwin, the two leading comedians on the stage today, may soon enter the list. They would draw immense houses.

Carlton and his opera company will be here just after the holidays. His new opera, Mynheer Jan, is highly spoken of by the Chicago critics, and that opera and The Queen's Lace Handkerchief will form his principal attractions.

Helene Dingeon goes East to play the part of "Serena," the daughter of "Said Pasha," in the grand production of the opera of that name, at the Grand Opera House in Philadelphia. Her performance of the part in the Tivoli production in San Francisco met with unqualified praise from press and public. The part is one for which La Belle Helene is particularly suited, and in which she is sure to make a pronounced success in the East.

It is now whispered that Booth and Barrett will not be together next season, although Mr. Booth will remain under Mr. Barrett's management and be seen next year in conjunction with a female star of the first magnitude. Barrett it is said wishes for another season in England to counterbalance the disastrous losses he had during his last tour. At any rate the Booth-Barrett combination has not been an enormous success in New York this season.

The New Theatre

The Los Angeles Theatre is announced to open to-night with Jeffreys Lewis and company in Diplomacy. The carpenters and gas-fitters were busy yesterday and will be to-day in putting on the finishing touches, and there is no doubt but every seat will be occupied. The box sheet has been open for several days, and on Saturday night the untaken seats had grown quite scarce. The scenery will be brought down from the loft to-day and put in place, and the sale of tickets will take place for the first time in the new box-office:

The Philharmonic Concert.

To-night the Philharmonic Society will give its second concert at the Grand Opera House. The Society has been at work for almost three months upon the programme, which for excellence has not been equalled before in the city. It is as follows.

1. Symphony in C. minor ..... Beethoven
   Allegro con brio—Adante con moto—Scherzo—Allegro.
   Philharmonic Orchestra.
2. (a. "He That Hath a Pleasant Face"—Glee ..... J. L. Hatton
   (b. "In the Moonlight"—Part song—..... Joachim Raff
   Philharmonic Chorus.
3. "The Hymn of Praise" ..... Mendelssohn
   a. The Symphony—Maestoso—Allegretto—Adagio Religioso.
   b. The Cantata.

Sig. C. Modini, Miss B. A. Butler, Mrs. B. Stansbery and the Philharmonic Society.

The programme is very tastefully arranged and contains cuts of Beethoven and Mendelssohn, a sonnet to Beethoven by Fannie Raymond-Ritter, the life of Beethoven, a description of the Fifth Symphony, the words of the two smaller choruses, a description of the "Hymn of Praise," and the words of the same.

The chorus consists of the following people: Miss A. G. Bast, Miss Jennie Bieber, Mrs. W. A. Bonynge, Mrs. J. H. Book, Miss Elsie Bosbyshell, Miss Mary Bosbyshell, Miss Kate Brousseau, Miss B. A. The Dime Museum.

There is now a most tempting list of attractions announced at this resort. The museum department is especially entertaining, a remarkable feature being Mrinzo, a veritable hercules, who, among other astonishing feats, lifts a horse with his teeth. The Magician Queen is clever; and the freaks, General Cardenas the midget, and Cooke the giant are literally the long and short of it. The theater presents Sig. Martinez, a grotesque Spanish dancer, whose quaint gyrations are quite novel; William Gaylord, a wonderful equilibrist and trick tumbler; Adams, a most eccentric comedian; Goldie, a good vocalist: Morton, Boyle and others make a highly entertaining programme, which is thoroughly enjoyed by the large audiences.

Emma Abbott.

The sale of seats for the coming Grand Opera Season of the Emma Abbott Opera Company will open at the box office of the Grand Opera House next Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. The following is the programme for the week: Monday, Carlo Diavolo; Christmas matinee, Martha; Christmas night, Mikado: Wednesday, Ruy Blas; Thursday, Norma; Friday, Il Trovatore; Saturday matinee, Bohemian Girl; Saturday night, Rose of Castile.

She Will Star in Comedy.

The news that Mrs. James G. Blaine, jr., had determined to go on the stage and was studying with David Belasco, of the Lyceum, was not a surprise to her many friends in this city. Mrs. Blaine, as Miss Nevins, had evinced remarkable dramatic talent, and had it not been for her marriage with James G. Blaine, jr., she would have been by this time the leading lady of the Lyceum company.

As soon as it was learned that Mrs. Blaine had positively decided to become an actress she was besieged with callers and telegrams, some offering encouragement in the way of friendly sympathy, and not a few suggesting the terms of an engagement.

Mrs. Blaine was seen yesterday at her apartment in the New York Hotel. Since her late serious domestic affliction the young girl has matured into a woman. Her face, which possesses always the rare charm of extreme girlish beauty, wears a determined look, and her voice and manner indicate that she has concluded to fight a hard battle with the world and win. In her simple black dress, with her blonde hair combed plainly away from her face, Mrs. Blaine did not look the gay young matron of a few months ago going with her husband to greet her father-in-law on his return home.

"I know," said Mrs. Blaine, "that many will censure me for this step. It will be said that I seek notoriety; that I wish to make political capital. My father and mother are both opposed to my going on the stage, but what am I to do? I have my child to support, and I must make use of the talents which have been given me. I have always had a leaning towards the stage. Some three years ago I took the leading part in an amateur representation of Paul and Virginia (Solomon's opera) at Washington. I made quite a hit in the part. Mme. Modjeska, who has always been my friend, offered me a position in her company. I had a year's contract with her, to be followed by a three years' contract with Mr. Frohman. My marriage put an end to all this. I went the other day to Mr. Belasco and told him I wished to resume my lessons. He admitted me into his private class with Mrs. Wilbur Bloodgood and Mrs. Elsie De Wolf. He has told me that I have considerable talent and will make a great success.

"I wish to become a member of the stock company and work my way up, but he says I must star. Comedy will be my favorite parts, as I have had tragedy enough in real life. I would not go on the operatic stage, as the strain is too great. I will not make my debut until the Spring of 1890."

PITTSBURG, Pa., December 4.—A Pittsburg gentleman who is well acquainted with Mrs. Blaine and who knows whereof he speaks, to-day said: "It is true that she is about to go on the stage, and I know she has had two offers. One of them came from Modjeska, with whom Mrs. Blaine was to have played before she was married. The other comes from a Pittsburg man who wants to star her and believes there would be a fortune in her. From what I have already heard of the matter, I know that if she accepts his offer it is his intention to bring her before the public next season with a good company and he believes he will clear $50,000 the first year. Her lawsuit is sure to go on and she is just as sure to be an easy winner."

INDIAN LAWS.

Judge Ross Sentences four Braves to San Quentin.

Judge Ross of the United States Circuit Court, on Saturday rendered the following decision in the case of Bill Whaley, Pancho Francisco, Salt Lake Pete and Juan Chino:

The defendants, who are Indians, are charged by the indictment in this case with the murder of one Juan Baptista, also an Indian, committed on the Tule River Indian reservation within the State of California, all of the parties at the time susiaining the usual tribal relations. When the case was called for trial the District Attorney stated that proof would be such that a verdict of guilty of murder could not be procured, nor could he contend for it, and therefore consented that the defendants be permitted to withdraw their plea of not guilty and enter one of guilty of manslaughter, which they desired to do. That was accordingly done. To enable the court to give proper judgment, the counsel for the respective parties then agreed upon most of the facts, and as to one or two points upon which they were not entirely agreed witnesses were, by their joint request, heard. These proceedings developed this state of facts.

The defendants were members of an Indian tribe, domiciled upon the reservation, and the deceased was an Indian doctor, who, in the course of the treatment of the members of the tribe, had been so unsuccessful as to induce the belief on the part of iis members that he had been systematically poisoning his patients. About twenty of their number had been treated by him, and under his treatment each of them had died. Finally one Indian, Hunter Jim by name, who was a favorite with the tribe, became, under the doctor's treatment, very sick. The members of the tribe held a council, and informed the doctor that if Hunter Jim died they would kill him. Jim did die. A council was held, at which it was determined to kill the doctor and the four defendants were appointed to carry into effect that determination, which they did upon the reservation the following morning by shooting him.

Had this homicide been committed prior to the passage of the act of Congress of March 3, 1885, this court would have no jurisdiction of the offense, for the Government of the United States had theretofore permitted the Indians preserving their tribal relations to regulate and govern their own internal and social relations. But by the act of 1885 Congress made a radical change in that policy and therein enacted: "That immediately upon and after the date of the passage of this act all Indians committing against the person or property of another Indian or other person and of the following crimes, namely, murder, manslaughter, rape, assault with intent to kill, arson, burglary and larceny, within any Territory of the United States, and either within or without the Indian reservation, shall be subject therefor to the laws of said Territory relating to said crimes and shall be tried therefor in the same courts and in the same manner, and shall be subject to the same penalties as are all other persons charged with the commission of the same crimes respectively, and the said courts are hereby given jurisdiction in all such cases, and all such Indians committing any of the above crimes against the person or property of another Indian or other person within the boundaries of any State of the United States, and within the limits of any Indian reservation, shall be subject to the same laws, tried in the same courts and in the same manner, and subject to the same penalties as are all other persons committing any of the above crimes within the exclusive jurisdiction of the United States."

The case of the defendants falls within the last class of cases provided for by this law. The counsel for defendants contend with much earnestness that the law in question should not be held to apply to them for the reason, as it is claimed, that they had no notice of it. If that view should be adopted by the court, the plea of guilty of manslaughter entered by the defendants could not be permitted to stand, for of course the court would not enter judgment in a case of which it had no jurisdiction. The validity of the act in both of its branches was determined by the Supreme Court in the case entitled United States vs. Kagamo. Its terms are plain and clearly embraced the offense for which defendants were indicted. Congress did not see proper to provide that the law should not take effect until the Indians should be notified of its provisions, but on the contrary enacted that, immediately upon and after the date of the passage of the act, all Indians committing any of the offenses described within the designated places, shall be subject to the laws therein prescribed. Clearly, the Court cannot hold the law inapplicable to any Indian who comes within its provisions. While the offenses committed by the defendants would, if committed by a white man, have of course been murder, it may be in view of the Indian nature, their customs, ignorance and superstition, that in the circumstances attending the killing of the doctor there was wanting the malice that is essential to constitute the crime of murder. It was that view that prompted the District Attorney to say that he could not contend for a verdict of guilty of murder and to consent to the withdrawal of the plea of not guilty and to the entry of a plea of guilty of manslaughter, and since justice should be tempered with mercy, perhaps the Court may be justified in imposing sentence in being moved by the same considerations and in inflicting a punishment which under ordinary circumstances would be considered too light for so atrocious a crime. The judgment of the Court is that the defendants, and each of them, be imprisoned in the State prison at San Quentin for the period of five years from this date, and pay a fine of $1.

A Bit of Advice!

CUTS OF ALL SIZES ARE ANNOUNCED ALL ALONG THE LINE since we published our determination to bid "good-bye" to the retail clothing business. One bit of advice: Avoid CUTS as you would edged tools; for, like tools, the CUTS are prepared for business.

Next Saturday, December 15th,

We throw on the market the contents of 50 cases of Clothing that were forced on us in New York. The price they will fetch is immaterial to us. The whole stock must go. Value absolutely no object.

TO THE TRADE—We are prepared to make any sacrifice to hasten our withdrawal from the retail branch. A call on us will be decidedly advantageous to you.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1888.

The Retiring Mayor.

THE HERALD has had occasion to say many good things of Mayor Workman, who retires to-day, and it has taken pleasure in saying them. Indeed, we have always had a warm place in our affections for that gentleman. He has many traits that commend him to the esteem of all who know him. He has a soft and amiable disposition, he is a good neighbor, a kind friend, and an excellent and exemplary citizen in every respect.

Whilst the executive affairs of Los Angeles have been administered by him with integrity and the interests of the city have been carefully guarded, it would be untrue to say that the retiring Mayor has not made serious mistakes. Indeed, he himself admits this. His great error was to allow his judgment to be swayed in matters of importance by designing men who used his confiding nature for partisan ends. It is inconceivable that any man could have believed that it was possible to carry out a scheme by which the gamblers could have been permitted to carry on their games by paying a monthly fine into the city treasury. We concede that the plan would have been an advantageous one to the city on revenue grounds; but as it would have been a direct violation of State law, there was no possibility of its succeeding. And yet it was on this chimerical schieme that Mr. Workman wrecked his administration as far as its popularity was concerned. It gave rise to suspicions, antagonisms and cross purposes, and resulted in a demoralization in one department which has not yet entirely disappeared.

Outside of this extraordinary freak, Mr. Workman has conducted the affairs of the mayoralty in a perfectly satisfactory manner. It would be ungracious not to say that he retires from office with the respect of the people, and it would be untrue to say that he has committed no mistakes. If Mr. Workman were of a harder and more positive nature than he is he would have made a more successful Mayor.

MAYOR-ELECT BRYSON will be inaugurated into office to-day. He assumes the executive government of this city at a time when it requires a clear head, an honest purpose and a steady nerve to steer her through the shoals and quicksands of a period of peculiar difficulties. Great and important public works will be undertaken and probably carried through during his administration, and upon his sagacity and firmness will depend whether those works will be the best that the city can have, or whether they will be defective in material points or complete failures. The jobbers are in the land, and it will require a strong man at the helm to defeat their schemes. We believe that we have a strong man in Mayor Bryson, and we have great faith in his peculiar qualifications, both from experience and natural bent, to give us an administration at this particular juncture that will redound to the interest of the city and to his own fair fame.

THREE robberies committed on Saturday night call attention to the fact that our police force is utterly inadequate to the needs of the city. In the local columns of the HERALD this morning may be found a timely special article showing how much smaller is our force than that of other cities of about the same population. It must be borne in mind that Los Angeles is a city of magnificent distances. The area embraced by the limits of this municipality is thirty-six square miles. It is as large as are many counties in the older States. Half a hundred policemen is not force enough to guard it. To be sure, two of the three depredations of Saturday night were committed outside the city limits; but that does not answer the allegations as to the insufficient character of our force as here set forth.

A SAN FRANCISCO paper of Saturday last says: "Los Angeles is at the mercy of thieves, highwaymen, safe-crackers, burglars, hoodlums and the like." It is rare indeed that a warmer note of praise for Los Angeles than this finds its way from the press of the Bay City. Our people would do well to note it, and make the papers who indulge in the policy feel their resentment. It makes no difference to these papers that the statements are utterly false. "Anything to beat Los Angeles" is the keynote.

SHEEP in Ohio are reported as running mad with hydrophobia. They must have heard Foraker howling about the way the Mills bill would fleece them. The silly sheep believed him, just like many other silly fellows.

The New-State Question.

The HERALD, in favoring the question of State division, has been actuated by a belief that it would be better not only for California, but the whole Pacific Coast. However much the idea may be derided, it is a fact that groups of States having a parity of interest in Congressional legislation are successful or not in Washington just in proportion to the positive representation they have in Congress. We all know that with reference to appropriations the Lake States secure all the aid they demand for improvements along the inland shores, simply because of their great power in Congress. The same is true of the Eastern and Middle States with reference to appropriations for harbor improvements, coast defenses, etc. So with the group of States bordering the Mississippi river, when they require the government to make improvements in that great water channel. On the other hand, the Pacific Coast has been treated by Congress in a most niggardly and parsimonious manner. Does anyone suppose that such a work as the creation of a new harbor at Wilmington would be snubbed with so contemptible an appropriation as $28,000 this year if we had the influence in Congress which a new State would give us? Is it not probable that if this Coast had the influence which an increase of Senators would give it, the harbor wants of San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara and Ventura would have received some adequate consideration before this time? Nothing whatever has been done by Congress for Port Harford, yet a perfectly safe and commodious harbor could be made there at very little outlay.

The principle of local self-government lies at the root of the American system, and the nearer the governing forces of States can be brought to their constituencies the greater will be the benefit derived by the people from their respective governments. It is a fact that the interests of Southern California have heretofore been treated by the Legislature in about the same way that the interests of the Pacific Coast have been treated by Congress. But let us suppose that after the next apportionment of representatives in the Legislature we should have a counterbalancing power to the north in that body, what would be the result? The legislation we would require with reference, let us say, to irrigation, would be opposed by the northern counties, and perhaps the legislation they would require on other subjects would be antagonized by the southern counties. Here is the groundwork for an irrepressible conflict, in which the interests of both sections would necessarily be made to suffer. The benefits of local self-government cannot accrue to the people of either section under such circumstances, for whether legislation come to a deadlock or is in favor of either section, important interests north or south, or in both sections, must suffer. But if the State were divided, there would be none of this clashing of interests. The Legislature of each State would be in perfect accord with its constituency. Their respective interests would be understood and guarded. The government of each would be brought nearer to the people of each, and there would be harmony and homogeneity in both the separated sections. It is the merest fustian, in this practical and progressive age, to talk about the hallowed memories of our common history, etc., so blending California into an indivisible whole that separation would be a crime against our glorious traditions. That kind of talk may furnish themes for schoolboy declamation; but we are dealing with hard facts, with a question that must be answered upon its merits as touching the actualities and the future progress and prosperity of both sections of the State. We yield to none in love for California, in pride for its auspicious American birth and in admiration of its wonderful development and its rapid advance from a pastoral to a condition of matchless industrial wealth and power. But we are not foolish enough to let sentiment interfere with manifest and logical destiny.

Our interests require that we should have increased influence in Congress. This we shall secure by making two States out of California. Our interests require that we should have legislation specially suited to the wants and the development of our section. This we can only get by the erection of Southern California into a sovereign State. We would leave the old State with regret, but we would hail the new star as the harbinger of the grandest commonwealth in the whole galaxy of American States.

A FEW months ago, under a Chief of Police whom they were trying to hound out of office on a false issue, our amiable and able contemporaries raised a great cry, and made out that this city was at the mercy of the thugs and toughs who were represented as flourishing in large numbers because of the inefficiency of the force, if not by reason of aid and comfort derived from the Chief. Is the same the case now under the man who was put in the place of him who was hounded from office by an unjust and unmanly course of hypocritical persecution?

THE officials did good work in the arrest of the men who committed the robberies at and near Sepulveda station on Saturday night. In less than twenty-four hours the robbers were behind the bars. Los Angeles is a bad place for the tough element to attempt to ply its avocations. They would do better and enjoy better health by seeking green fields and pastures new abroad from the Angelic City.

DUARTE will ship one hundred carloads, or 36,000 boxes, of oranges this year. The crop will bring $2 per box, as most of the oranges of that place are budded. For a small settlement $72,000 is a large sum to be received from the fruit crop of one variety. The scale bug has failed to conquer the horticulturists of Duarte.

IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

Another of the Gang of Burglars in Limbo.

Officer Wheaton, at 2 o'clock this morning, met two men each carrying a valise, who acted suspiciously. In answer to his questioning they said that they had arrived by train and were on the way to the Pico House, where they would put up. Officer Wheaton accompanied them there and when arrived went to the telephone to call for the patrol wagon. The two men immediately skipped, leaving their valises. Wheaton caught one of them and brought him to the station-house with the plunder. He gave the name of Tom Clark. He is a small man and apparently old at the business. The valises contain jewelry and gentlemen's wearing apparel, an umbrella and a hat. The latter has the name of Pitcher & Gray and it is believed that the goods belong to those parties. The contents of the valises are worth several hundred dollars and officer Wheaton made a good haul and saved valuable property.

STATE POLITICS.

A Scramble For Legislative Offices —Some of the Contestants.

The contest between White and Yell for the Presidency of the State Senate and the Lieutenant-Governorship of the State increases in intensity as the time for the assembling of the Legislature draws near. Those who claim to know, state positively that Yell. will be the man, while politicians in this city are nearly as confident for White.

It has not yet been decided who is to have the office of Chief Secretary of the Senate, but the San Francisco delegation concede the appointment to the country. Thus far there are but two prominent candidates—George W. Peckham, proprietor of the Watsonville Transcript, and Edwin Smith, of Sacramento. For First Assistant Secretary, J. J. McCarthy, of this city, has been selected, and is certain of the appointment. George Taylor, of San Francisco, may be Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly.

There are three candidates for the Speakership of the House. D. A. Ostrom, of Sutter county, is said to lead in the race. His competitors are Robert Howe, of Santa Rosa, who was defeated for Mayor of this city in 1880, and T. W. H. Shannahan, of Shasta.

Ed Leake, of the Dixon Tribune, is a candidate for Clerk of the House, and it is said he has every chance of success.

The only prominent candidate for Journal Clerk of the Assembly is Carl Spelling. of Santa Rosa.

The Sergeant-at-Arms is a position which several are after, but nothing definite can be determined until the caucus meets at the capital.

The term of Harbor Commissioner John H. Wise expires in January, and two aspirants, both from Oakland, are striving for the place.

The first is Charles O. Alexander, who represents an Oakland district in the Assembly. He has just been re-elected.

Matt Kelly, a Republican Alliance man, is also in the field and is said to have good backing.

The prospect is that neither one will get it, however, as it is understood a well-known and prominent Republican of San Francisco is to receive the place. The position is worth $250 a month, but the appointee will not cut any figure, politically, until a year hence, when the term of A. C. Paulsell expires. The Republicans will then have control of the Board, and will have the distribution of nearly 100 places along the water front of this city.—[S. F. Alta.

ROBBERY.

$1,000 Worth of Goods Stolen From L. Barnes' Store.

On opening his store Wednesday morning L. Barnes found things in a chaotic condition. Burglars had entered some time during the night previous, by breaking the lock to the rear window, and had generously helped themselves to whatever suited them. They had taken $500 worth of silks and satins, about 200 hats valued at $2 each, a quantity of shirts, underwear, hosiery, gloves, etc., aggregating in all about $1,000 worth of goods. They had taken the hats from the boxes and left the boxes strewn around the rear door.

They left a new coat which did not belong to Mr. Barnes' stock. It evidently came from H. Christie's clothing house, as they and one house in Los Angeles are the only firms carrying that special make of coats. Christie's store had not been entered, however, and it must have been filched the day previous.

No clew as to who the burglars were could be discovered. Parties went out early to the cañons, thinking they might have gone there, as a party with a couple of burros was seen on the streets after midnight. Word was also telegraphed to the Sheriff's office and to the neighboring towns, but so far no trace of the men or goods has been found.

There seemed to be a general impression among the citizens that it might have been the work of the gang of Chinamen who were here on Tuesday attending the trial of a countryman.

It was a bold break, as two gentlemen slept in the room above the store, and the rear door of the store is but a few feet from the sleeping apartments of W. A. Chess and L. T. Graves.—[Monrovia Messenger.

Looking for a Location.

Two gentlemen from the East were in the city last Saturday looking for a location to establish a tomato cannery. They were shown over the city by L. T. Graves, whom they assured that they had definitely determined on establishing a cannery somewhere in Southern California. They are practical men in their line, and now own and operate a cannery in the East. They recognized the advantages offered by Southern California, because of the fact that tomatoes may be grown here nearly the entire year, while the canning season lasts only two months in the East.

All the guarantee they required from the people of the town where they may locate is that a sufficient quantity of tomatoes be produced to keep their cannery in operation, for which they would pay a fair market price. This may be easily guaranteed here, as tomato vines are very productive and are a paying crop to raise, where there is a sure market for their sale. The greater freedom from frost of the foothills is also an advantage to this section, as the season for them is practically the whole year. Many of the gardens here are now producing ripe tomatoes of fine quality.

The gentlemen agreed to return in a few days and thoroughly investigate the advantages of this section. They expressed themselves as well pleased with Monrovia, as to its location, its railroad facilities and the adaptability of the soil and climate to raising tomatoes. It would be a big advantage to Monrovia to secure this enterprise, and would in no wise intertere with the fruit cannery which is likely to be located here. —[Monrovia Messenger.

CRIME AND CASUALTY.

Exciting Train Robbery on a Southern Road.

ONE OF THE PASSENGERS KILLED

Sundry Encounters with Pistols and Knives—A Sioux Buck Runs Amuck.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD]

NEW ORLEANS, December 16.—A Picayune special from Grenada says: Passenger train No. 2, of the Illinois Central, was robbed last night one mile north of Duck Hill at 10:15. When the train stopped at that place two men boarded the engine and commanded the engineer to pull out, at the same time covering him with revolvers. One mile north they compelled him to stop. The engineer and fireman were marched to the express car. One of the robbers knocked on the door, which was opened by the messenger. The robbers entered and took $3,000, all there was in the car, from Messenger Hill. The firing of a pistol before they entered the car attracted the attention of Conductor Wilkinson, who rushed out and was immediately fired upon. He returned to the train. Mr. Charles Hughes, of Jackson, Tenn., then ran out with a Winchester rifle. As he stepped to the ground from the smoking-car he was fired upon. One shot struck him in the left arm and another one through his stomach, inflicting fatal wounds. The death of this young man is very sad as he was the only support of a widowed mother. Nine shots were fired afterward by Conductor Wilkinson and Travelling Passenger Agent Rohan, and four or five by the robbers, but the latter succeeded in making their escape. The passengers were greatly alarmed, fearing for the safety of their valuables and lives. It is believed that the men were hit by some of the shots fired at them. The place of the robbery was an open marsh, fifty yards from the woods. Both robbers ran eastward into the swamp. A posse is being organized to join in the chase, and bloodhounds have been secured to aid in trailing them.

WHO FURNISHED THE WHISKY?

A Sioux Buck Runs Amuck with Dire Consequences.

CAMP POPLAR RIVER, Mont., December 16.—At the Fort Peck Indian agency yesterday Pretty Boy, a Yankton Sioux, made an attack on his squaw. He felled her to the ground with a blow from a club and then jumped on the body and attempted to scalp her. Several Indians seized him but he broke away and running to a tepee seized a Winchester rifle with which he opened fire on the police, instantly killing two and fatally wounding a third. He then proceeded to where the squaw was lying and shot the top of her head off. This done the mad buck attempted to escape, firing repeatedly at the Indian police who pursued him. Finding escape impossible he halted about a mile from the agency and shot himself through the heart. The affair created great excitement, and had it not been for the presence of two companies of the Twentieth infantry, who interfered, a general fight would have occurred. An investigation is in progress to ascertain who supplied the Indian with liquor, and if the party be located he will be dealt severely with.

VAST SMUGGLING CONSPIRACY.

Operations Not Confined to Handling Opium Alone.

ST. PAUL, December 16.—There is every reason to believe that the smuggling conspiracy which the United States officials have discovered by information given by one of the band, arrested at Denver, and the subsequent seizure of 800 pounds of opium at St. Vincent, is more far-reaching and of vastly greater proportions than at first supposed. It is certain that the operations of the smugglers were not confined to opium, but large quantities of silks and other costly fabrics from China have been landed in British Columbia, and brought to various points on the Canadian Pacific railroad, consigned to smugglers. It is known that the Government officers have recently seized several small lots of silks that are said to have been disposed of to St. Paul and Minneapolis merchants. The officials are preserving the utmost secrecy in the hope of catching some of the smugglers.

A RIOT IN COURT.

A Tennessee Court Room Converted Into a Battlefield.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., December 15.—A special to the American from Jackson, Tenn., says: During a trial before Esquire Exum in the Tenth District of this county yesterday, over a settlement between Tom Brown and a colored family named Hicks, Will Hicks cross-questioned Miss Fannie Brown in rather an abrupt manner, and he was told by her brother Tom to be more careful. The Negro replied with an oath and knocked Brown down. Other Negroes and Peter Brown, a brother of Tom, joined in the general fight. Tom Brown cut one or two negroes with his knife and stabbed the mother of Will Hicks in the throat. Tom Brown and his brother were also badly hurt. At last accounts the Negroes were armed. There was much excitement and danger of further trouble.

BATTLE FOR BLOOD.

A Peace-Maker and Several of the Combatants Killed.

NEW ORLEANS, December 16.—A Great Coteau special says: As near as can be ascertained the shooting affair of yesterday was the result of a feud which had existed between members of the Higginbotham family for the last three or four years. The parties were attending horse races when the difficulty arose. It is said thirty or more shots were fired. A young man named Beard, who acted as peace-maker, was shot and instantly killed. Two of Monroe Higginbotham's sons were shot. One died during the night and the other is seriously wounded. Two other persons were wounded, one of them the mother of young Beard. Her wound is not serious.

Fatal Family Drive.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 16.—This afternoon while Michael Rosenburg and his wife and mother, Mrs. Rosa Rosenburg, were out driving in a one-horse carriage on Golden Gate avenue, the horse became frightened and ran at a furious rate down the street for a distance, when the carriage suddenly struck an obstruction in the street and all the occupants of the carriage were thrown violently to the pavement. Mrs. Rosa Rosenberg, who is a rather elderly lady and somewhat fleshy, struck upon her head and received a fracture of the skull besides other injuries from which she died in a short time. Rosenberg and his wife also received serious injuries, but they are not considered fatal.

Rosenberg is a cigarmaker and has not been long from the East.

JOURNEY TO THE TOMB.

The Remains of Justice Boyle Started Eastward.

SEATTLE, W. T., December 16.—At a meeting of the Seattle Bar Association this afternoon a committee of ten, including the Mayor, was appointed to convey the remains of Chief Justice Boyle, who died suddenly last night, to Tacoma on the way to Uniontown, Pa., for burial. Suitable resolutions upon the death of the Chief Justice, for presentation at the District and Supreme Courts, were adopted. District Attorney Ronald and J. H. Lewis were selected to accompany the remains East. The body of Judge Boyle, accompanied by his wife and son, together with the committee, started on their journey to-night.

Diphtheria Epidemic.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., December 16.—Diphtheria has broken out among the Mexican children of the county and it is said that no less than 200 deaths have occurred in the past few days. The physicians claim that the parents do not properly attend to their children.

An Old Feud.

SANTA CRUZ, December 16.—An old feud between Dan McLellan and Thomas Glover, on the Ben Lomond, near this city, culminated to-day in the probable fatal wounding of McLellan by Glover's son, who fired four charges of buckshot into McLellan.

Red-Handed Father.

BIRMINGHAM, December 16.—The Coroner's jury to-day held an inquest on the body of Irene Hawes, found in the lake yesterday, and returned a verdict that the deceased came to her death at the hands of her father, R. R. Hawes.

DE LESSEPS' DESPAIR.

How the Old Man Feels Over the Canal Bill's Failure.

PARIS, December 16.—When De Lesseps heard of the rejection of the Panama Canal bill, his face blanched and his hands became very cold. He soon recovered his usual calmness, however, and spoke sadly of the wreck and fearful disaster to himself and the nation.

The Boulangist Conservative journals violently denounce the rejection of the Panama Canal bill. Camille Dreyfus writes: "The Deputies' abandonment of 850,000 shareholders is a crime for which the policy of defamation pursued for the past sixteen months is responsible. For fear of suspicion, the Deputies permitted citizens to be ruined when they did not need to risk a sou to save them."

Saturday morning a dynamite bomb was found on his piazza. The fuse had been ignited but expired before an explosion could occur.

In view of the fact that the name of ex Senator Hill, of Colorado, had been freely used in the eastern press in connection with the coming Senatorial contest in that State, Mr. Hill has authorized the Associated Press to state that he is not a candidate and will not under any circumstances allow the use of his name.

In Upper Bern township, Berks county, Pa., Mrs. Albert Kauffman and her daughter Alma lifted a large vessel of hot tallow to pour into a kettle which contained a small quantity of water. WASHINGTON WIRINGS.

Democratic Bill for Making New States.

THE PEOPLE TO HAVE A VOICE.

Dakota to Decide Her Own Destiny. Forecast of the Week's Work in Congress.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD]

WASHINGTON, December 15.—In accordance with the expressed intention of the Democratic caucus on last Thursday night to support an omnibus bill providing an enabling act for the admission of the Territories of Dakota, Montana, Washington and New Mexico, and give the people of Dakota the privilege of determining whether the Territory shall be admitted as one or two States, Representative Springer, Chairman of the Committee on Territories, has been engaged in formulating the necessary amendment bill reported last session to make its provisions conform to the proposed changes, and with some change in the time of holding the election of delegates to the Constitutional Convention.

Springer has prepared an amendment providing that elections in the four Territories shall be held on the first Tuesday after the third Monday in May, 1889; that delegates so elected shall meet in Convention on the following Fourth of July and prepare constitutions to be submitted to the people for ratification or rejection on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November following.

To determine whether or not the Territory of Dakota shall be admitted as a whole or divided, the proposed amendment to the omnibus bill provides that at the election for delegates to the Constitutional Convention in May, every qualified elector may have written or printed on his ballots the words "for division" or "against division." If a majority of the votes cast in that part of the Territory south of the seventh standard parallel, due west to the west boundary of the Territory, shall be "for division," the delegates elected shall assemble at Sioux Falls. If a majority of the votes cast north of the seventh parallel shall be for division, then the delegates so elected, who may reside north of said parallel, shall assemble in convention at Bismarck. Each convention shall then form a constitution for its State, which constitution shall be submitted to the people for ratification or rejection. Each State shall be entitled to one representative in Congress.

The appropriation to meet the expenses of holding two Conventions is increased so as to provide for each Convention the sum of $20,000. It is provided that should the people reject the respective constitutions, the Territorial Government of Dakota shall continue in existence the same as if this act had not been passed, or if the constitution for either North or South Dakota shall be rejected, then the part of the Territory rejecting shall continue under the Territorial Government of Dakota. In case the people vote for division, provision is made for the appointment of a commission by the two Conventions to readjust and agree upon the amount of the Territorial debt to be assumed by each of the proposed States.

Springer will call a meeting of the Committee some time next week for the purpose of submitting the proposed amendment to them for consideration. He proposes to report the amendments to the bill to the House at an early day. He will also ask the Committee to consider the propriety of proposing an additional section to the omnibus bill, providing that whenever an organized Territory of the United States shall have legally ascertained a population equal to the number necessary to entitle it to a representative in Congress, such Territory will be authorized through its Legislature to call a convention, to consist of not less than seventy-five members, who shall assemble at the seat of government of the Territory and form a constitution for submission to the people. If a majority of the people vote for it, it is to be transmitted to the President, and by him laid before Congress, and if the the constitution so adopted be Republican in form and in accordance with the Constitution and laws of the United States, the Territory shall be admitted into the Union whenever Congress shall pass an act therefor.

CONGRESS.

Outline of Work Mapped Out for the Week.

WASHINGTON, December 16.—In the Senate the Tariff bill still holds right of way over other measures and will be considered from day to day immediately after the routine morning-hour business.

In the House to-morrow motions on behalf of committees to pass measures under suspension of the rules will be in order, but the pending motion made by Dunn for the passage of the Nicaraguan Canal bill will have right of way.

It is doubtful whether Chairman Blanchard, of the River and Harbor Committee, will make an effort to call up the bill of which he is champion on suspension day, but a strenuous attempt will be made to secure its consideration and, if possible, its passage during the course of the week. Vigorous opposition to this measure will be made by some of the members who believe the Committee has not sufficient time to formulate a proper bill, and that the present methods of making appropriations for such purposes is wrong. A substitute for the measure will probably be offered, appropriating a bulk sum (larger than the total carried by the bill), to be expended by the chief engineers under the direction of the Secretary of War upon improvements of a National character.

A Strong Appeal for Pardon.

WASHINGTON, December 15.—Representative Vandever called upon the President to-day and made an appeal for the pardon of Z. E. Burns, confined in the Monterey jail for embezzlement. Burns was sentenced to two years imprisonment, and all the officers, including Judge Ross of the United States District Court, have united in a petition for his pardon.

The Week's Clearances.

BOSTON, December 16.—The total gross exchanges of the leading clearing-houses of the United States for the week ending December 15th were $1,087,773,408, an increase of 6.6 per cent. as compared with the corresponding week of last year.

THE BURIAL OF BANKER MORSE.

Consigned to the Tomb by Bereaved Brethren and Comrades. Notes.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

SAN BERNARDINO, December 16.—At 10 o'clock this morning the parlors and corridors of the Stewart Hotel were filled with people to witness the last rites of honor to E. H. Morse, the bank cashier shot Thursday by James Oakes. The funeral services were under the auspices of San Bernardino Lodge, I. O. O. F., assisted by all the ranks of the Order in this city, and Canton Shennan of Riverside. The coffin was beautifully decorated with flowers and emblems. A touching sermon was preached by Rev. Oakley, pastor of the Congregational Church. At the west entrance of the hotel an immense crowd had gathered, and the same extended all along the streets.

The procession was the largest ever witnessed in the county, and demonstrations of deepest sorrow were shown. The order of march was as follows: Seventh Regiment Band of San Bernardino and Riverside Cantons I. O. O. F., followed by subordinate lodges and the Old Boys' Hunting Club. More than one hundred carriages were in line and the procession was half or three-quarters of a mile long. At the grave impressive ceremonies were held.

The entire community is stirred to the very depths by the tragic affair. The deceased was one of the most popular men in the county, and his loss is deeply felt.

The murderer has been removed to the hospital, and is recovering from his wounds rapidly. He refuses to talk or give a reason for his crime, except that he "had to do it." The final inquest is to be held on Monday.

CALIFORNIA ON WHEELS.

Start of the Exhibition Car for the East.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 16.—The California exhibition car, as arranged by the Board of Trade, left at 4 o'clock this evening for the East. The exhibition is neat, compact and attractive. Thirty-four counties are represented in it. The car contained samples of every kind of fruit raised in California; glass jars, in which were all the grains of the State and specimens of its minerals; bottles of its best white and red currants; peanuts, walnuts and various other nuts grown in California; olive oil, raisins and an immense lot of preserved fruit; woolen goods, samples of California woods, pine cones, and other products. Joseph McDonald is in charge of the exhibit as the representative of the State Board of Trade. No schedule of places where the car is to linger has yet been made out, but will be before Omaha is reached. The car will be away three months. It will go as far east as Eastport, Maine; how far south it will go has not been determined.

The attention of big cities will not be courted on the trip. The car is not sufficiently large to be much of a novelty in cities like Chicago, which have already seen California products in profusion. The object of the expedition is to inform the farmers and people of country towns of the advantages of the Golden State. This will be done by stereopticon views and talks and by printed matter, as well as by exhibit. Three times a day dispatches will be received in the car giving the state of the weather and temperature in this State as announced by the Signal Service. These observations will be made known at every place the car stops at.

A Cargo of Lepers.

PORTLAND, Ore., December 16.—A letter has been received from the captain of the bark Kitty which sailed for Haiphong in August with twelve Chinese lepers on board. The Captain writes that the first mate and two of the lepers died on the voyage, and after reaching Haiphong one of the lepers jumped overboard and was drowned. They experienced very rough weather across, and the bark was badly damaged by a typhoon.

Nuggets Lying Around Loose.

YUMA, Ariz., December 16.—The gold strike near Harrisburg, in the Harqua Hila Mountains, this county, made two weeks ago by Robert Stein and others, is causing great excitement. It is reported that many thousand dollars worth of nuggets of gold have been picked up directly below the ledge, ranging in value from one ounce to $400 each. Several tons of quartz are sacked, worth from $1,000 to $2,000 per ton. A large number of claims have been located.

San Jose Jottings

SAN JOSE, December 16.—The jury in the trial of Otto Curtis, for killing George I. Dibble, were discharged at noon today, being unable to agree after twenty-four hours' deliberation. They stood eleven for murder in the first degree, with a penalty of imprisonment for life, and one for manslaughter.

The Santa Clara Valley Agricultural Society has fixed the date for its next fair at September 2nd to 7th.

Hot Springs Sold.

YUMA, Ariz., December 16.—The medicated hot springs at Agua Caliente, in the Gila valley, have just been sold to a St. Louis syndicate for a large sum. Hotels will be built and a sanitarium established.

Gold Excitement at The Needles.

THE NEEDLES, Cal., December 16.—Prospectors have arrived here who give reports of a big gold ledge about twenty miles south of this place. Considerable excitement has been caused. Outfits are leaving by boat and train daily.

An Infant Burned to Death.

VANCOUVER, W. T., December 16.—The three-year-old daughter of William Stevens, living hear here, was burned to death last night by her clothes accidentally catching fire.

Indications.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 16.—Indications for twenty-four hours: For California, fair weather, preceded by local rains in districts north of latitude of San Francisco.

City Front Scullers.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 16.—At Whitehall a single-scull race between John Engels and Oscar Lewis, both water front boatmen, took place in Alameda Creek to-day. The race was said to be for $250. Gradually Lewis was left behind and at the half-mile he gave in entirely, Engels rounding the stake boat one and one-quarter miles, in exactly 10 minutes.

A MINISTER'S UNHAPPY UNION.

He Wants a Divorce Because His Wife Uses Morphine.

NEVADA, December 16.—Rev. E. Lewis, late Rector of the Episcopal Church at Grass Valley, has begun suit in the Superior Court for divorce, on the ground that his wife is addicted to the use of morphine. Mrs. Lewis is at present living with the family of her father, ex-Mayor Lewis, of Fredericksburg, Va., and has telegraphed a lawyer here to oppose the divorce.

The Company Demurs.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 16.—The American Sugar Refinery Company has filed a demurrer to the complaint brought by the people to forfeit the company's charter because, it is alleged, the company has become a member of the Sugar Trust. The demurrer holds that the Superior Court has no jurisdiction and the people no right to sue, nor is it clearly set forth wherein limiting the supply and advancing the price of sugar exceeds the privileges or franchises of the company.

The Orange Crop.

SAN BERNARDINO, December 16.—Secretary Scott, of the San Bernardino Board of Trade, has been looking over the prospects of the orange crop for this season. While the first carload shipment was made from Riverside last week, the bulk of the crop will not be fully matured before another month. The total product of the county will be 315,000 boxes, of which Riverside furnishes 250,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 16.—K. Ota, a Japanese who arrived a few days since from the Orient, was found dead in his bed this morning, having been suffocated by escaping gas.

Eleven "Stubborn" Men.

STOCKTON, December 16.—The jury in the case of August Newman, charged with throwing the switch at Ripon, was discharged standing 11 to 1 for conviction.

THE DARK CONTINENT.

More Rumors Concerning Stanley and Emin Pasha.

SUAKIN, December 16.—The Kahlifa's letter to Osman Digna states that a steamer expedition to the Equator, commanded by Osman Saleh, on arriving at Lado had Emin Pasha and a white traveler delivered to them in chains by Emin's officers and troops. Osman Saleh in his letter to the Kahlifa stated that he reached Lado on October 11th, and that the Khedive had sent a white traveler, named Stanley, with a letter telling him to go with Stanley, and offering the remainder of the force at the option of going to Cairo or remaining. They refused to enter the Turkish service and gladly received Osman Saleh. He heard that another traveler visited Emin, but had gone and he was searching for him.

A reconnoissance was made on the left and rear of the rebels' position to-day. A party headed by General Grenfeld advanced under heavy fire from the forts. The Arabs opened fire but did no damage.

BERLIN, December 16.—The Freisinnige Zeitung and other newspapers argue that if the Osman Digna reports are true the Wissman expedition will be useless. Some journals argue that it would take at least four months to cover the distance which the reports must travel from Lado, and that therefore they must be false.

Herr Merensky, Chief of African Missions, thinks that Emfn Bey has been captured, but not Stanley. It is more than likely, he said, that the white traveler referred to by Osman Digna is Captain Casate, the Italian explorer. Lieutenant Wissman has received no counter-orders as yet with regard to his relief expedition.

LONDON, December 16.—A dispatch from Suakin to the Times says the natives do not believe that the equatorial provinces have submitted to the Mahdi. If they had, the natives say, proclamations to the people of the Emina Territory and other official acts of the Mahdi would have become public, and the surrender of Suakin would have been demanded. A coast-guard steamer which has just arrived from the South heard nothing of the alleged capture of Emin.

Advices from South Africa say the King of Swaziland recently caused the massacre of his premier and six chiefs and their people, who were supposed to be concerned in a plot to dethrone him in favor of his brother.

STREET CAR LINES.

The Chicago Syndicate Gets a Hold in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, December 15.—The sale of a number of St. Louis street railways to Chicago capitalists was consummated today at noon. The purchasers are C. B. Holmes and L. C. Hutchinson. The roads sold are the Union, Citizens', Cass avenue and Northern Central. The purchase price was $3,600,000.

CABLE ROADS IN DENVER.

DENVER, December 15.—The first cable roads of the Denver Tramway Company, twelve miles of track, were completed to-day. To-night the company's entire force, 800 men, was unexpectedly put to work on another cable system of twelve miles, having its main line on Lawrence street. The move is to hold off the cable line proposed to be built by the Denver Cable Company, a rival organization. Lawrence street is packed to-night by tramway cable men working by gaslight. There is great excitement in the city over the matter.

COAST DEFENSE.

General Howard Thinks the Pacific Coast Needs Attention First.

NEW YORK, December 15.—General Howard, speaking of the coast defenses to-day, said the Pacific Coast armament is worse than the Atlantic Coast; virtually nothing in the nature of defense exists. He thought dynamite guns might accomplish much for coast defense, but also thought too much might be expected from them. The Pacific Coast should first be considered, because it is farther away from the plants for manufacturing heavy guns than Eastern points are, and it will require more time to put the Pacific Coast in proper condition for defense. There were two things necessary to proper coast defense, naval and land forces.

Chicago Socialists.

CHICAGO, December 16.—Two or three small meetings of Anarchists and Socialists were held to-day, but developed nothing sensational. Mrs. Parsons, contrary to announcement, did not arrive home from her trip to Europe. A committee of her friends, who were to meet her at the depot, were notified last evening that she would not reach the city till to-morrow.

GENERAL TOPICS.

Only a Fair Weather Church Goer.

BENJAMIN'S PEW WAS EMPTY.

He Staid at Home Yesterday Because the Weather Was too Bad—Rumors.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.]

INDIANAPOLIS, December 16.—Inclement weather caused rather a poor attendance at the church this morning. General Harrison passed the day quietly at home. Hon. John C. New received a letter from Senator Quay to-day, stating that he would leave Washington Monday night for Indianapolis. Two or three of the correspondents for Eastern journals are said to be engaged to-night in adding a new name to President Harrison's Cabinet in the person of Governor J. B. Foraker, to whom they have assigned the Attorney-Generalship.

A sod cabin built by citizens of Loup City, Sherman county, Neb., as a gift for General Harrison, arrived in the city this evening. It occupies an entire flat car. It is 18 feet long and 9 feet high. The balance of the car is fenced in as a dooryard. What they propose to do with the house is a puzzle, since it seemingly cannot be removed from the car without falling to pieces. It is probable that it will be sidetracked and taken to Washington for the inaugural parade.

LONG AND SHORT HAUL.

Charles Francis Adams' Views on the Interstate Act.

BOSTON, December 16.—Charles Francis Adams, President of the Union Pacific Railway Company, addressed the Commercial Club last evening on the subject of the present condition and tendencies of railroading in this country. He had been asked particularly to express his views of the Interstate Commerce Act and its practical working. He said, in part:

Since the Interstate Commerce Act went into effect two years ago, there has been what might be called a craze for railroad construction. It is impossible to pool, and the long haul regulates the short haul. The dishonest methods of rate-cutting and other means to influence the course of traffic have been resorted to or devised during the past two years, I do not hesitate to say are unprecedented in the whole bad record of the past. When asked why I do not give information and institute proceedings under the law, I may say that while I am morally sure these things are done, I cannot furnish legal proof. It is this absence of good faith which has brought the railroad system to its present condition and threatens to carry it still lower. To attribute it to the Interstate Commerce act is an utter mistake. If that act were totally repealed to-morrow it would produce but a temporary relief. The railroad system must heal itself. But in saying what I have raid, I do not mean to imply that in my judgement the Interstate Commerce Act is a harmless, much less useful piece of legislation. On the contrary I am very sure that as it stands it is not. Its present effect and future results are exactly those which its framers never contemplated. The process of gravitation and consolidation, so far as railroads are concerned, was going fast enough before, but the Interstate Commerce act has given it a new impetus. Under the operation of the act the smaller local railroads throughout the country are being ground out of existence. It is the long haul which brings in the profit. The smaller independent railroads cannot have this and are forced, whether they like it or not, into the maws of the few great systems into which the railroads of the country are rapidly crystallizing. Thus the effects of the act are being felt at the smaller distributing points which are deprived of their market, for those who formerly bought of them can get the same goods on better terms from larger and distant centers. Contrary to every design of those who framed the act, its provisions have lent a new impetus to just those forces it was intended to hold in check. The Interstate Commerce act, acting on the tendency of natural forces, is rapidly driving us forward toward some grand consolidation or railroad trust scheme. Even this, from my point of view, I cannot regard as a thing to be dreaded. I am very sure great consolidated corporations, or even trusts, can be held to far stricter responsibility than numerous smaller and conflicting corporations. A well-devised railroad clearing-house scheme would prove in practice, whether so intended or not, in a direct line of the enforcement of the Interstate Commerce act in all its better features, and it has many such. If I were asked this evening for concrete propositions, I would say delay, at least for a time, the present too rapid tendency toward crystallization or consolidating, by repealing the features of the Interstate Commerce act which are precipitating events in that direction.

National Democratic Clubs.

NEW YORK, December 15.—A meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Committee of Democratic Clubs was held to-day. The gentlemen present thought the recent National defeat which they sustained will have the effect of stimulating all clubs to take more active measures in the campaign of 1892. It was voted to have another meeting of the General Committee, composed of a body of five members from each State, at an early day, when the date of the next National Convention of clubs will be fixed.

Short, Sharp and Decisive.

NEW YORK, December 16.—Mike Cushing, of Brooklyn, and Pete Walsh, of Pittsburg, weighing 130 pounds each, fought a game fight to a finish at Rutherford, N. J., this evening. The contest was short, sharp and decisive, Cushing having the best of the battle all through, though Walsh was game and took his mauling well. He was knocked out in the fourth round.

TORONTO, December 16.—Wm. O'Connor has challenged Henry Searle, of Australia, to row a three mile race for the championship of the world and $1,000 a side, the race to take place on neutral waters.

A PROBABLE COMBINE.

Burlington Men Said to Be Purchasing Atchison Stock.

It is the general opinion now that the Atchison stock, which was recently bought up at the rate of 1,000 shares a day, and which caused the rumor that Gould was gaining control of the road, was purchased in the interest of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy people, who are fully alive to the advantages that would accrue from the bringing of the two systems under a common control. Although at first sight it appears as if it would be impossible to gain control over the 750,000 shares of Atchison stock, yet it must be remembered that both the Burlington and Santa Fe roads are practically in the hands of the Boston people, and it is an open secret that a good many of the stockholders of both roads are identical. A combination of the two lines would make the strongest railroad pool in the world, representing about 9,500 miles of track.

Depot Gossip.

The banner delegation from Alameda county returned home on the noon train yesterday.

Robert Savill, the inventor of the railway ticket in use in the United States, is dead.

The Union Pacific has ordered fifteen passenger coaches, to be equipped with the Streator chairs.

The capital stock of the Chicago, Santa Fe and California road has been reduced from $30,000,000 to $15,000,000.

Mr. Keyes, ticket agent of the Santa Fe at San Diego, has been transferred to this city and will enter on his duties to-day.

A number more locomotives are on the way from the East for the Southern Pacific. Some of them are twelve-wheelers.

The afternoon train to Santa Barbara now meets the Southern overland at the tunnel station instead of at Newhall as heretofore.

There are about 220 people in the Warner Bros.' excursion which will arrive in this city from the East on Tuesday morning.

The Walkers excursion which arrives here on Tuesday is traveling in two of the Chicago and Alton's new superbly equipped coaches.

Judge W. C. Hazeldine, solicitor of the A. and P., with headquarters at Albuquerque, stands a good chance of being the next Governor of Arizona.

The net earnings of the Santa Fe from January 1st to October 31st, this year, were $4,011,269, a decrease of $3,087,184 over the corresponding period last year.

The passengers on the Glendale Railroad want an extra car attached to the train for the 3:10 and 6 o'clock trips, as owing to the increase of travel there is not enough seating accommodation.

Mr. J. H. Sherman, Train Dispatcher for the Southern Pacific at Mojave, was in town Saturday shaking hands with the boys. He used to manipulate the instrument in the San Fernando-street establishment.

Mr. H. C. Orr, General Southwestern Passenger Agent of the Burlington system, who has been "doing" Southern California, returned from San Diego yesterday morning and left on the noon train for San Francisco.

The C., B. and Q. has issued its statement of earnings and expenses for the month of October. For the first time this year the report shows an increase in net earnings over the corresponding month of 1887. The gross earnings were $2,802,342, an increase of $24,420; operating expenses, $1,534,006, a decrease of $18,200; net earnings, $1,268,282, an increase of $45,620.

Reply to an Open Letter.

WM. T. LAMBIE, CITY SURVEYOR—The accusation of which you complain in your publication to me in the HERALD of December 8th, 1888, was made directly to you and in your face. If you had intended to resent the charge the time and place was then and there. Men will not consider your publication under these circumstances as altogether manly or very chivalrous.

To the best of my belief the accusation was heard only by two other gentlemen, both of whom were interested in the map of our route, and each of whom heard your denial. Therefore, your claim that you publish your "open letter" to set yourself right before those who do not know you, falls flat. If you had one particle of manliness and common decency, the publication would not have been made, and I can only account for your rushing into print in the matter to your abnormal craving for a little vulgar notoriety. As you object to my opinion of you expressed privately, I will now express it publicly. Our map was made by a thoroughly competent engineer, and as I offered to tie the line wherever it crossed a street by giving the distance to the nearest corner, I consider I was justified, upon your refusal to approve of the map, in accusing you of caviling; and whatever motive influenced you, I think you showed your unfitness and inability to fill your position impartially. That the charge was well founded I believe to be shown by your approval of the map, in writing, when urgently requested to do so by the Mayor and by an additional "B. C." by our engineer. For the best welfare of the city I trust your earnest efforts for re-election may fail, and a worthier man found to fill your place.

Itching piles are known by moisture like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching after getting warm. NEWS NOTES.

A meeting of the retail merchants of the city will be held at G. A. R. Hall this afternoon to take action toward the reduction of rents.

Four tough characters all drunk were arrested by deputy constable Arguello yesterday morning at the Southern Pacific depot and taken to the county jail for disturbing the peace.

The ladies of the Union W. R. C. Fair will meet to-day at 2 P. M. at Masonic Hall, 20½ South Spring street. All ladies having tickets sold or unsold, are requested to report to the ladies of whom they received them at this meeting.

Thomas A. Gaskins, the Secretary of the Porter Land and Water Company, who tried his hand at forging checks and then ran away, was arrested Saturday in San Francisco. Sheriff Kays had a telegram yesterday from Chief Crowley announcing that he had the man. Tom Hays will go up after him to-day.

John A. Logan W. R. C. had an adjourned meeting for election of officers on Friday. The following officers were elected. Carra Tarble, President; Fannie M. Patton, Senior Vice President; Calena B. Wise, Junior Vice President; Anna Hackett, Chaplain; Frances McDonell, Treasurer; Ella McDonell, Conductor; Una McDonell, Guard. Nellie M. Gleason was appointed Secretary. The delegates to the Department Convention will be elected at the next regular meeting, which takes place next Thursday.

Mutual Retail Liquor Association.

A very peculiar and a very desirable association of liquor-dealers has been formed. The leading retail and wholesale dealers in whisky have come together and formed a union for the purpose of elevating the liquor traffic. They seek to better the morale of the business and will strive financially and politically to do away with low resorts, to limit the number of saloons, and in all ways to legitimize the sale of whisky. Already the leading men have signed an agreement to the above effect, and on Tuesday night will meet for permanent organization and the election of officers. The signers are H. Stuhr, N. Fancher, P. White, M. Mullaley, I. Narey, P. Ballade, M. De Garmo, H. Schnable, J. McManus, J. Boyer, H. Woollacott, Ed. McGinnis. Ed. Germain, Theo. Freise, A. Steinike, J. F. Tournoux, J. P. Taggert and A. Vignolo.

Shortly before 8 o'clock last night a fire broke out in Thos. Watson's bakery on the corner of Alameda and Commercial streets. The light frame building was a mass of flames before the alarm was turned in and the department arrived, and nothing was saved except a case of cigars belonging to the cigar store which occupied the front portion of the building. This was owned by R. Demoret, and his stock was valued at $1,600; insured for $800. The building belonged to K. Cohn and was valued at about $1,000. The bakery was insured for $500. Total loss about $4,000.

By Sea.

The arrivals at San Pedro last week were as follows:

December 8—Steamer Eureka, San Francisco, 80 tons merchandise.

December 9—Steamer Yaquina, Tribble, San Francisco, 303 tons rock.

December 10—City of Puebla, Debney, San Francisco, 280 tons merchandise.

December 12—Steamer Los Angeles, Gage, San Francisco, 80 ton merchandise.

December 14—Steamer Queen of the Pacific, Alexander, San Francisco.

A Traffic Revolution in the Wind.

A steamer containing 10,800 ties for the Southern Pacific arrived at San Pedro Saturday. The Company has received over 100,000 ties during the past three months and they are all being put in in the Yuma and Arizona divisions It is said that when the road is strengthened up to the degree required the Southern Pacific will completely revolutionize the present overland time schedule by making a reduction of about twenty-four hours in the trip across the continent.

THE COUNCIL.

What will be Done at the Meeting To-Day.

This morning the City Council will meet at 10 o'clock and the events of the meeting will be watched with more than ordinary interest. After the reading of the minutes the report of the committee appointed at the last meeting to arrange salaries for the city officers for the coming year will make its report. It is necessary that the salary be fixed for the offices before the officers are elected, for there is a provision in the charter to the effect that an official's salary cannot be changed during his term of office. As stated in the HERALD on Wednesday morning last there will be hardly any change in the salaries of the different officers. After this report has been disposed of the election of officers will be called up, and the usual order is to elect a clerk first, and then the Chief of Police, Street Superintendent, Chief Engineer of Fire Department, City Surveyor, Zanjero and Captain of the Chain Gang. Whether this order will be carried out is not known, but yesterday it was whispered that an effort would be made to postpone the election of Chief of Police until after the other offices have been filled. It was also stated that Mayor Workman's annual message will be read immediately after the minutes have been approved, and that following this the bonds of Mayor-elect Bryson will be acted upon. Other than the report of the Committee on Salaries there are no committees to report. The city work has accumulated greatly during the past two weeks, and the new committees, when appointed by the President of the Council, will find themselves busy in clearing away the various matters which are to come up for consideration.

PLENTY OF LUMBER.

The Dealers Here Prepared for the Big Building Boom.

The lumber ships that were expected at San Pedro are beginning to come in, and inquiry shows that the market is very well stocked, though not by any means glutted. The West Coast Company, which represents the San Francisco Redwood Association, has 7,000,000 feet stored at San Diego, besides its resources in its yards at Pasadena and Pomona. The mills up north will close down very soon, and this is of course the reason for the heavy stock now carried by the dealers here, who have to provide for the contingencies of the extraordinary building boom that is prevailing in Southern California.

Swell Tourists.

A Cook's excursion party will arrive in the city on Wednesday. It is the first of a series of six organized by that well known tourist agency. The travelers are brought out in special trains of Pullman cars, conducted in a manner similar to the Raymond excursions. They will reach this city over the Santa Fe road, and those destined for the North have a twenty-four hours' lay over. The second party will leave New York on January 16th, the third on February 13th and the fourth on March 13th, the dates of the last two being not yet settled.

Pullman Passengers.

The following Pullman passengers left yesterday for San Francisco and the East:

By the 1:30 P. M. train—Mrs. G. R. Peck, W. H. Workman, J. H. Wilkains, H. C. Orr, Mr. Merrigan, Mr. McLoughlin, Mr. Phillips, T. A. Daly, Miss Sherwood, Miss Empey, Mr. Parey.
